The man, released from a state prison less than 24 hours earlier, claimed he was robbed by four black men at the Grayling Holiday Inn. After investigation by city police and the sheriff's department, the man was lodged in jail on charges of breaking and entering businesses at the Grayling Mini-Mall with additional charges pending. His name is being withheld pending arraignment in district court.

Maple Forest Roads Eyed for Improvement

Roads in Maple Forest Township will be surveyed in the next few weeks to make plans for possible improvements.

The Maple Forest Township Board asked John Keir, Crawford County Road Commission Manager, to make a study of the roads and present it to the board for the September or October board meeting.

The board, saying the township roads are in poor shape, want to know what needs to be done, how much it will cost, and who pays for the improvements.

The main county roads in the township are County Road 612 and Sherman Road.

John H. Alef, President of Grayling State Bank, has announced the filing of a Letter of Intent to merge the Grayling State Bank with the Citizens Banking Corporation of Flint, as a wholly owned subsidiary. Mr. Alef stated that the Citizens Banking Corporation is headed by Citizens Commercial & Savings Bank, the largest bank in Flint, and among the ten largest banks in the state, with assets totaling more than one billion dollars.

Citizens Bank, established in 1871, is the only bank which has served the Flint community continuously for 110 years. Its 33 offices include facilities in Columbus, Otisville, Durand, Holly, New Lothrop, Flushing and Davison, as well as Flint. William J. Kraus, Executive Vice President, when commenting on the merger noted that the Grayling State Bank has served the greater Grayling area for 50 years and has shown continuous growth, with offices in Downtown Grayling, the Grayling Mall and in Fred- eric.

Mr. Kraus noted that "by combining the talents of our people with the resources of a larger bank, we will offer the advantages of innovative banking and financial service to better serve the residents of Grayling and Crawford County, thereby assuring continual personal, up-to-date service to our customers. The proposed merger will provide us with the resources to meet the anticipated needs of this growth area."

Operation of the Grayling State Bank will continue under the direction of all existing bank directors and its independent management and employee team.

Mr. Alef, in making this announcement, reaffirmed that this merger "will increase our investment and dedication to the continued growth and future prosperity of Grayling and Crawford County, as well as greatly benefiting our current, and future customers."

The proposed merger is subject to approval by the Michigan Financial Institution Bureau, the Federal Reserve, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, and other regulatory agencies.

Marijuana Plants Discovered in Beaver Creek Twp.

A couple of garbage bags worth of marijuana plants were discovered growing in Beaver Creek Township last week by Crawford County Sheriff deputies. The plants were pulled and taken to the Michigan State Police Crime Lab in Grayling to be destroyed. Deputies said the plants were tall from a good growing season.

Six traffic accidents occurred last week in the county but no serious injuries were recorded. Martha Spencer, of Grayling, was traveling southbound on Manistee River Road, two miles south of County Road 612 at 11:30 Saturday night when she lost control of her car. The car left the roadway, struck three jackpines and a fence, and rolled over. She was transported to Mercy Hospital by the Frederic Township Ambulance.

Last Wednesday, at 1:45 p.m., a car driven by John Solomonson, 16, of Grayling, ran into Terry Phipps, 31, and Brenda Sellers, 20, of Long Beach, California riding on bicycles. Solomonson, traveling westbound on M-72, said he pulled out to pass a car in front of him and then returned to the right lane but did not see the bicyclists also traveling west in the same lane. The bicycles were damaged; however, no serious injuries were reported.

In other county police news, the sheriff's department reports one complaint of child abuse was reported by military police at Camp Grayling. Two small children, two and three years old, were reported being left alone. Protective Services investigated and allegedly found the report to be true.

An eight-year-old girl was mistakenly left at the rest area located along I-75 near Four Mile and sheriff deputies helped reunite her with her mother within an hour.

An automobile fire on a trail road off M-93 by I-75 is still being investigated by See Police on Page 18

Handicapped Dispatcher Helps CCPT Handle Record Number of Passengers

Crawford County Public Transit set a new record for passengers carried in one day with 1,068. The new high was reached on Wednesday, August 12 with the help of Paul Petroit, a handicapped Dispatcher Trainee from the R.O.O.C. sponsored program. C.C.P.T. had 1,068 passengers board the buses for various reasons. Camp Grayling, where the Indiana National Guard is in training, helped a great deal with over 300 passengers riding between Camp and Grayling.

Petroit is in his third week with the local Transit Authority. The three week session is designed to train for, and evaluate the work of, certain types of handicapped persons. R.O.O.C. officials stress that the desires of the trainee and assessments of true capabilities are of primary concern when placing people. Petroit and his wife, Marie, also confined to a wheel-chair, live in Roscommon.

"It wouldn't make much sense to try to train me for a roofing occupation," says Petroit, "But radio dispatching, answering the phone and record-keeping are work areas I can handle from my wheel-chair."

Chet Johnston, Crawford County Transportation Coordinator, says that Petroit is shown no preferential treatment and learns the procedures no faster or slower than previous trainees. "In fact," he says, "He has had previous experience in this sort of work and that's a definite plus for him and for us."

R.O.O.C. is a division of the C.O.O.R. Intermediate School District and is designed to provide vocational training and seek employment for handicapped persons. C.O.O.R. serves the Crawford, Ogemaw, Oscoda and Roscommon County areas.

When Petroit completes the training program in Grayling, R.O.O.C. will seek See Dispatcher on Page 18

DISPATCHER HELPS SET RECORD—Dispatcher Paul Petroit helped Crawford County Public Transit handle a record number of passengers recently. Most dispatchers drive busses first to learn the needs. Editor's Mailbox

Dear Editor:
Once again the residents of Crawford County are faced with a millage election. Unfortunately, this one differs in many respects from the ones we have rejected in the past. This time the question to be answered is not how much we will pay to increase or better our educational system but rather how badly it will be hurt.

I ask that each resident seriously consider whether our schools can sustain their present high level of education with further budget cuts. The community is just beginning to rebound from the combined blows of losing Bear Archery and the effects of the recession. Let's not take another backward step by lowering our level of education. Stand behind the community and its children by voting yes in the upcoming election!

From Our Corner ...

It's that time again folks...the day when the electors of the Crawford-AuSable School District will be asked one more time for millage so that the school administration can offer a quality, well rounded educational program to the student body of Crawford County...

The schools are offering a three parcel millage request that will be decided on Monday, Aug. 31st...

We feel the administration is trying to come up with a program that will be advantageous to all students...but the serpent dwells in the midst of the voters...it takes money to educate our youth here...the problem is that the money has to come from the taxpayers in Crawford County...the question is are they willing to sacrifice some things in order to pay for education in our schools...

No, we are not the only school district faced with this dilemma...every school district in the state of Michigan are going through the same trauma...

Where the answer lies is in our opinion is the legislators and governor in Lansing...but, that doesn't help this year when the schools are to open on September 9th here...will they open with a skeleton crew of teachers?...and will they abolish all extra curricular activities at the schools...these will be answered on Monday the 31st...

The biggest stroke of genius in our opinion would be coming out of Lansing with a package that would eliminate the taxes of the people for millage to operate our educational facilities in the entire state...the schools right now are the only department in the state that requires a vote of the people for money to operate their own school districts...this is wrong because it does not hinder the people living in the district...it hurts the students who are trying to get an education so that they may meet the challenge of the world they become a part of after graduation...

By now, with the Avalanche carrying the wording of the three millage proposals we feel most voters have their minds made up as to how they will cast their ballot...this weeks Avalanche has ads pro and con and also letters to the Editor pro and con...

Our only request is that you do exercise your right to vote...we are ready for the 31st...we're going to vote yes three times...we feel that there is much more in a person's ability than to just learn reading, writing and arithmetic...students have other abilities but they are not brought out if they can not participate in such things as band, football, tennis or whatever other competitive activity...if these are fringes to the education of our students, then I'm one in the dark...our society today does not even come close to the society that we grew up in, and back then money was as scarce as hen's teeth...but, the so-called fringes were still there...

We mentioned last week that we were not nervous about the up-coming roast Thursday night...well that was last week, we are starting to get a little apprehensive right now...we will feel better when we receive the list of our roasters, then maybe we'll have a little bit of knowledge as to what to expect from our supposedly friends...oh well, the proceeds do go to a worthy cause this coming winter...

We would like to pass on our congratulations to P.J. McNamara on his passing the state Board of Pharmacy exam recently...the problem now is that you will have to put up with three leprechauns instead of one...

This past Saturday we had a phone call from Dane in Nevada...he went to Midland, Texas to find a place for the family and came up with nothing...so instead of being vagabonds they are going to stay in the tinsel city for now...

This has got to be it...our mind right now is on the roast...so we will say good night to T.J., Stef and Amber and to all our readers have a nice weekend, summer has just about left us...

The Bible Speaks

From Calvary Baptist Church

God's Wrath Is Against Evil Works

Romans 2:7-11

Those who have trusted Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior are then characterized by daily practices and goals which are in keeping with their eternal life. "To them who by patient continuance in well doing seek for glory and honour and immortality, eternal life." Romans 2:7.

Those who have rejected the truth of the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ are then characterized by daily practices and goals which are in keeping with their doubt, disbelief and despair. "But unto them that are contentious, and do not obey the truth, but obey unrighteousness, indignation and wrath, Tribulation and anguish, upon every soul of man that doeth evil, of the Jew first, and also of the Gentile."

But again, those who are serving the Lord Jesus Christ have higher goals in mind, both in this life and for all eternity. "But glory, honour, and peace, to every man that worketh good, to the Jew first, and also to the Gentile: For there is no respect of persons with God." Romans 2:11. Many persons have the feeling that God will deal with them as exceptions. For various reasons each person thinks God will give him or her a special break or favor. My friend, God has already given you and me all the special favor He could possibly give, when He gave His only begotten son to die upon the cross for our sin.

In this day of "easy beliefnism" there is an artificial division between one's profession of faith and one's practice of faith. Such a division is not taught in the Bible. Bible Christianity will effect not only our confession, but also our character and conduct. Liberal ministers may try to tell you the Bible doesn't really mean what it says, and "Fundamentalist ministers interpret it wrong." Do not be deceived, the problem is not interpretation, but unbelief.

It is important that we understand the need for uniformity now in our confession, character and conduct, before we leave this life and face a Holy, Righteous God who will expose the hypocrisy of the "moral" man as plain sin. My friend, the life you live now is important to God both now and when you face Him in eternity to answer for your character and conduct. The risk is too great to play the fool. (adv.)

RETIRES AFTER 31 YEARS—Cal Knowles retires this week after 31 years of service in the Department of Military Affairs. He was honored at a dinner last Thursday night at the Holiday Inn.

"The obscure we see eventually. The completely obvious, it seems, takes longer."

Edward R. Murrow

On August 31, voters in the Crawford AuSable school district will face a few obvious facts. Three separate millage proposals await voter approval. The issues are simple - not complicated.

In order to operate on what is already a reduced budget, the schools need more money. To continue present levels of instruction, sports, extra-curricular activities, and bus service, ALL THREE MUST PASS! No frills, no fat, and no new, unnecessary programs. Each issue stands on its own, and each issue is needed to continue basic education programs.

The local school board has struggled to contain spending and yet offer a good, sound basic education. These children are going to be competing in some very tough job and college markets.

Dear Mr. Madsen and Crawford County Taxpayers,

Consider the upcoming school election this way - for example: if the passing of the three millage proposals bring your taxes up to $700, and you have three children, it would cost you approximately $233 per child for one year for their education, this seems like a small price to pay for their educational future.

Last year was my freshman year at Grayling High School. The good experiences offered in every phase of my education have me looking forward to my next three years of high school.

Academic classes, sports and extra-curricular activities are important to us and our future; libraries are important to slow, average and advanced students, sports provide enthusiasm, art, music and business courses fulfill the needs of all students.

Every program that is now offered affects each child in one way or another.

Calculate what it will cost you to educate your children. Don't you feel they are worth it?

Vote, 'yes' on all Three Proposals!

Sincerely,
Monique Petrosky

To the Editor,
 We have a beautiful bathing beach located on the Camp Grayling area of Lake Margrethe for the National Guard and people of Michigan. It sure seems like the Camp Grayling work crews could maintain the mowing of the grass and weeds on the beach and maintain trash barrels.

Someone authorized the placing of stones along the road to keep autos off the beach.

This was a good idea, however now there should be a parking area marked off for trucks and autos opposite the beach area.

I wish I knew someone who could bring this to the attention of the Camp Commander. He's worked very hard to maintain a beautiful appearance of the camp area. But now the beach has been neglected and I feel he would keep up the beach area if brought to his attention.

To the Editor:

In answer to the teacher that wrote to the Editor in favor of the upcoming millage election. She quotes another school administrator from Gaylord who mysteriously was also in favor of property tax increases and who stated "property taxes are only 6 percent of all taxes", this could be because he has a low property assessment and a high income which he can spend on what he wants. Most of the other taxes he refers to are mandatory only to the point as he has a choice, buy or not, these taxes, such as, import taxes, etc., are NOT repetitious also most are included in the initial product.

Property taxes as we all know are recurring year after year after year on the same property without even the consolation of knowing how much it will be as they are based on costs and inflation.

This writer of the letter seems to feel it is unfortunate that we have a vote on this tax. I wonder what the tax would be if we didn't have a vote? I shudder to think about it. As you say there are many wasteful state and federal programs but don't have to read the Readers Digest to find out about them on the educated fools that do the spending. We can see this locally in many programs, if we can't control these why try to stop the State or the Federal Programs. BUT don't say we can't vote on these other taxes if we want. You should know better.

Remember the Bill of Rights and the Right to Petition the Government and the State Constitution. (Article 1 - Section 3, Right to Petition or Article 11-Section 9, the Right of the Initiative and Referendum reserving unto the People the Power to Propose, Enact or Reject Laws), (such as proposed taxes, etc.). Also we have the right to Recall (Article 11, Sec. 8).

We don't have to wait till the young are educated to do something about the waste you refer to. If you sincerely think there is this waste you should do something about it. Petition the offenders and bring it to a vote of the people.

Lately in this paper there has been a very good message. "To be born free is an accident - To live free is a responsibility - To die free is a responsibility". To cooperate and work together as you request is great. Its easy to make such a request, we all want better schools and the best of education for our kids, but when you talk of "Austerity" budgets we differ greatly. I wouldn't call 16 or 18 thousand dollars for 190 days worth Austerity, I'd call it prosperity.

There are many fine teachers in this community, I'm sure, but there are also many fine property owners that don't have anymore tax dollars to contribute, and things aren't getting better. We must, when we vote, consider each of these persons. Is it fair to obligate them and our children to pay for all these taxes that we vote in. To keep voting our children into Bondage and slavery to the tax collector is deplorable and against the entire concept of this country and the constitution.

You found fault with some of the uses of the grants and tax dollars, great, that is your prerogative, but please why don't some of you educators do something about improving the system. Get a petition going (I'll probably sign it). Talking don't get it done. I know, I've carried a few petitions, but I've yet to see a teacher in the area with one. We even got the schools more money on the swamp tax issue, where were you guys?

If you want cooperation and support you've got to show your concern about it, in more ways than talk, tighten up your belts.

It all boils down to taxes and the question of whether your the PAYEE or the RECEIVER. Mrs. Bovee, think about it!

Economics To Top Fall Legislative Agenda

Warren M. Hoyt, Executive Director, MPA

The Fall legislative session will be dedicated to improving the economic conditions of Michigan.

Both the governor and legislative leaders have placed the highest of priorities on legislative solutions to aid in making the state a better place to maintain a business, expand one and/or relocate new ones.

Governor William G. Milliken and Republican leaders reached agreement at a summit on Mackinac Island on the basic outlines of an economic development plan that would receive legislative action this fall.

Details of the agreement, however, were not announced to allow for discussions with Democratic leaders, labor and business interest groups.

Management and Budget Director Gerald Miller did say that over the next three years, the plan could mean some $2 billion in individual and business tax cuts. He added, however, that state income tax cuts would not be part of the package.

The package would also deal with workers and unemployment compensation changes; incentives for small business, high technology and foreign trade and investment; and increased promotional programs to attract new businesses.

Miller said the workers compensation changes could actually be the most significant part of the tax package. Changes in the tax structure would include single business tax and property tax relief.

Meanwhile, Senate and House Democrats have a plan of their own designed to give business tax incentives and property tax relief to make Michigan a better place to live and do business.

Milliken later announced he will recommend legislation to help state businesses take advantage of research and development in the new federal tax cut law.

The governor, who along with California Governor Edmund Brown Jr. recently lead a National Governors' Association Task Force on Technological Innovation, said the tax bill can cause a very significant flow of research and development funds in the state.

The tax cut measure includes a 25 percent tax credit for increases in research and development expenditures and contains special incentives for university projects and for industry donations to university programs.

Milliken said the state tax programs could include economic incentives or special state efforts to make Michigan businesses aware of available federal incentives and to help them take advantage of them.

Both the executive office and the legislative are thinking business climate this summer and aiming toward programs this fall to solve some of the problems plaguing state businesses and industries.

It remains to be seen how quickly they can pull together to accomplish these goals so necessary to the health of the state.

Ayers-Kolka Speak Vows

Carolyn Denise Ayers and Kurt James Kolka were united in marriage in a double ring candlelight ceremony on Saturday, June 27, 1981, at Mt. Hope Lutheran Church at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon before 300 guests. Pastor Craig Hexham and Pastor William Winter officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin and organza gown fashioned by her mother, with a contoured high waistline dipping in the back. The cathedral train and gown were edged with handmade galloon laced flowers, handmade roses and leaves adorned the skirt, the dress featured a sheer over bodice and sleeves gathered at the wrist. The full length veil and blusher had a head piece with handmade lace, roses and leaves with a pearl and lace edging. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and daisies with a flowering ribbon and yellow tea roses.

Marilyn Alma, sister of the bride was matron of honor. Virgie Lindville, Jackie Hexham, Colleen Wittier, and Marian Matyn were bridesmaids. The flower girls were Teresa Alma and Joanie Beck. The bridesmaids wore floor length gowns designed by the bride's mother in pastel colors, each carried a single yellow rose with flowing ribbons and wore wide brimmed picture hats to compliment the color of their gowns. The matron of honor carried a miniature bridal bouquet.

Sidney Canfield was best man, Mitchell Linendoll, David Prough, John Juntilla and James A. Hatfield were groomsmen. Guests were seated by Rex Alma and Rod Leslie.

Organ music was furnished by Carol Schrader. Selections were "One Hand, One Heart" and "You Made Us For Each Other" by Linda & Rick Townsend; "Wedding Song" by Romona Moser, and the "Lords Prayer" by Pastor Craig Hexham. The altar flowers were white glads, yellow mums and daisies.

At Grayling Meeting Group Discuss Economic Potential of Forest Products

By Don Geiss
State legislative members of the Forestry Committee and Department of Natural Resources officials met with Northern Michigan wood products manufacturers last week in Grayling to discuss the economic potential in this area of forest products.
State Senator Mitch Irwin, who is chairman of the committee, told the 45 persons in attendance that the state is well aware of the potential market for timber. He noted that the industry can double itself in the next few years.
Irwin said that the committee was meeting with the area representatives and during touring operations to find out what the state can do to assist in growing, manufacturing and marketing of the wood.
The major comments by the wood products representatives included the need for restoring the DNR budget for the Forestry Division, an arrangement whereby the forest harvester could cooperate with the DNR in reforestation, and professional foresters aiding private landowners in managing their woods.

Hank Webster, DNR Forestry chief, said that without the budget restoration, work on replanting could not be accomplished. His comment evoked the remark that the bidder for timber harvesting could be asked to also do the reforestation work.
It was noted that private landowners have a difficult time getting assistance in planning for future yields on their land.

Roger Rehberg of the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission told the committee about northern Michigan efforts to obtain assistance in building a dry kiln. He pointed out that with the capability of drying lumber, the area could attract other wood related industries.
In response to the question about what made Weyerhaeuser decide to locate its new plant in the area, Tony Moore, plant manager told the committee that the aspen resource was of prime importance. He said that a good transportation system and tax relief were also extremely important.
After the luncheon meet-

Harland-Karpicke Wed

Miss Karen A. Harland became the bride of David S. Karpicke in a ceremony at Mt. Hope Lutheran Church on Saturday, July 18th. The Reverend Wm. Winter of Houghton Lake performed the ceremony at 1:00 o'clock. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride wore a taffeta gown with a lace overlay, string lace sleeves and high lace neckline outlined with daisy flowers in a v shape, with a long train. She carried a bouquet of yellow carnations and orange roses.

Music was furnished by Dave King at the piano with James Karpicke singing "Sunrise, Sunset" and the "Lords Prayer."

Denise M. Bowers was Matron of Honor. Bridesmaids were Margaret Stevenson of Lincoln Park and Brenda Mathais. They wore matching gowns of apricot cut at the bottom in a v shape with a removable under-piece. They carried arrangements of orange carnations and yellow roses. Flower girls were Amie and Angie Harland, ring bearer was Jeremy Bowers.

Greg J. Karpicke served as best man with Brian Konesko and Mark Stevenson as groomsmen.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at Auman's House of Catering. There was a three tier wedding cake with a operating water fountain in the center.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. John Harland and the late John Harland.

The Bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Karpicke of Luzerne.

The bride attended Grayling High School and North Central Michigan College and the bridegroom attended North Central Michigan College and Delta College.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Harland wore a rust colored dress with bone accessories. The grooms mother wore a beige print dress with a beige jacket and bone accessories.

After a honeymoon in Canada the couple will be making their home in Grayling.

Citizens of Crawford County:

Wake up people!!! You are being used! Used to help put more and more money into the pockets of a few rich land investors and landlords! These people have valuable pieces of land that they rent to you or other businesses in town, or that they plan to sell to you at a handsome profit.

They espouse reasons that sound good to the average homeowner for voting no on the school millages, but the real reason is greed!!! They want your hard-earned money in some 17% money market account in New York, not back in our community. Don't vote no because a few influential landowners in this town make it sound right.

If your home is worth $30,000, the full 5.7 mills will cost you less than $90.00; if you vote only for Proposition 1, it will cost you less than $50.00. It will cost the rich, those who can afford it but are renting the land to you, much more.

If you rent in Grayling or shop in stores in Grayling, a yes vote will help return your money to the children of our community. If you own a home in Grayling, vote yes for what you have decided you can afford.

Don't vote no simply because some influential, greedy person gives you excuses which will further his own bank account. A yes vote will cost the average homeowner little compared to what it will cost the money mongers!!!

Organized crime has grown so large it poses a serious threat to the nation's free enterprise system, says a former criminal investigator for the IRS. Organized crime drains the profits of legitimate businesses and would probably rank among the top industries in the nation.

Welfare Statistics Show Decline

By State Rep. Ralph Ostling
Statistics recently released by the Michigan Department of Social Services indicate that Michigan's welfare reform laws are working, and that the state's economy may be on the upswing.

At least that's the impression given by the drop in caseloads for both recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children and General Assistance.

Preliminary statistics released by the Department of Social Services on August 18 show a one percent drop in AFDC cases - from 239,221 in June to 237,182 in July. That drop of 2,039 AFDC families is low compared to the 1.6 percent drop in AFDC-Unemployed (both parents in the home but the primary breadwinner is out of work). That statistic would indicate that unemployment is finally dropping and that the DSS is saving money.

General Assistance (GA) cases totalled 110,685 - a 1.1 percent drop over the June count of 111,890. The average GA recipient receives $160.87 a month.

The July figures mark the fourth straight month of declining AFDC caseloads in Michigan, and the third straight month for drops in GA recipient cases. Prior to this downward trend, caseloads in both categories have risen every month for the past two years.

While credit can certainly be given to a strengthening economy and an upturn in profits for the major automobile manufacturers, it is also evident that more stringent welfare laws recently enacted are partially to blame for the welfare savings we are finally beginning to realize.

One law that has had a significant impact went into effect last fall. It requires each person applying for general assistance (GA) be offered either public service employment, job training, job placement in the private sector, or vocational education. If the applicant refuses to work towards his eligibility, he is denied general assistance for three months.

While caseloads may be falling, our benefit levels are still nearly 25 percent higher than surrounding states, creating a welfare mecca for citizens of other states who move to Michigan. The federal government does not allow state Legislatures or courts to develop residency requirements for new welfare recipients because of Constitutional rulings. Thus, it is our responsibility in Lansing to work to bring our benefit levels into line with our neighbors to the south and west, particularly Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

One In Five

The number of people who live alone in the United States has nearly doubled in the past 25 years. Today, more than one in five households is occupied by only one person.

WHY ALL THREE?

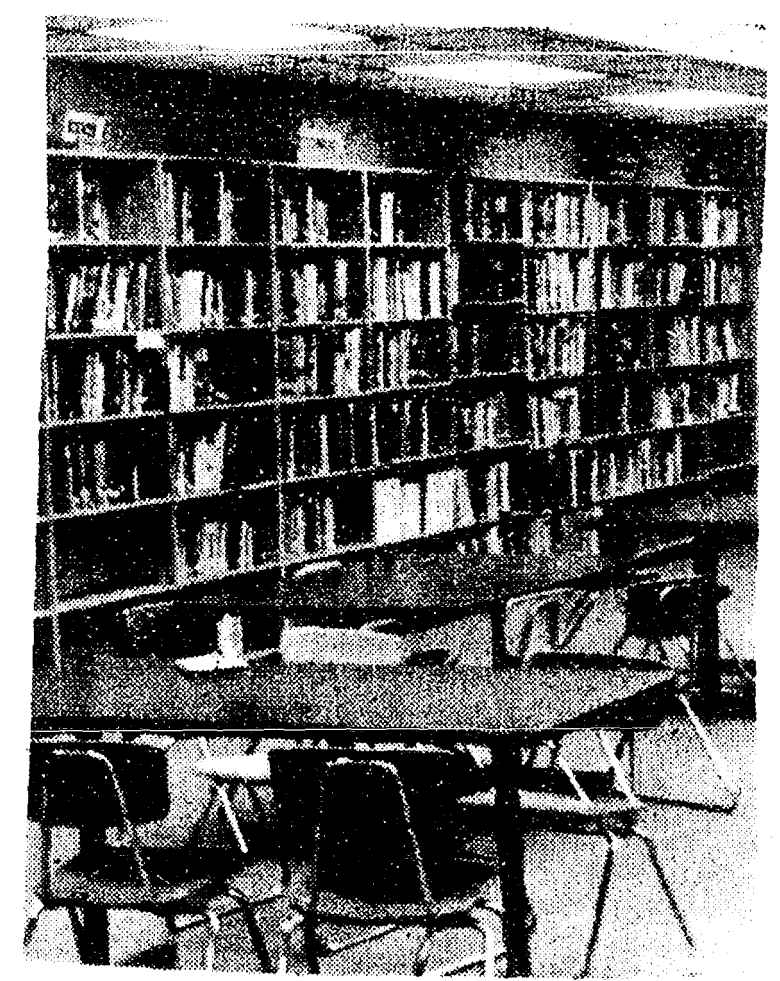

Three separate millage proposals are being offered for public approval August 31. The Crawford AuSable schools will need passage of ALL THREE just to maintain current levels of instruction, class size, bus service, sports, and extra-curricular activities.

The issue has been broken down into three separate parts in order to help voters more clearly identify expenditures. But make no mistake.

All Three Must Pass to Maintain Current School Programs.

It just isn't fair to tell our local kids that they can't have the basic educational tools necessary to compete in the job market and in college. The present program offers the bare minimum as it is. The defeat of any or all of the proposals will reduce local educational opportunities to a very sad level.

Clock Collector Having Time of His Life

By Jon Thompson

Although Robert Harrington, of Grayling, has more than 300 clocks, he never has any time on his hands. Whenever he has some free time, he's usually cleaning or repairing clocks or looking for another one to add to his collection.

Harrington began collecting clocks in 1945 when he repaired his grandparents' grandfather clock. He still has that first clock in his collection and it still keeps time.

In fact, most of the clocks in his collection run well because Harrington enjoys repairing them as well. He has a shelf of clock repair manuals, collector's books, and parts catalogs. He has two chests of drawers containing spare parts and clocks to be fixed as well.

Harrington is so proficient at repair work, clock lovers from as far away as the U.P. ask him to repair their treasures.

"Most of the clocks I repair are just dirty or there have been too many fingers inside them," Harrington said. "Probably the best advice I can give is to dust the outside of the clock and if something goes wrong inside, have a reputable repairman look at it."

Several of Harrington's clocks decorate his house and the rest are displayed on shelves in his basement. He has an antique clock housed in a wood replica of a Virginia cathedral hand carved by the priest of that cathedral. He also has marine clocks, a 1912 braille pocket-watch (bumps along the numbers), an oldtime Coca Cola clock, and a time clock removed from the Dow Chemical plant.

"Some one at the plant knew I collected clocks so they called me the day they took out all the time clocks."

Harrington's oldest clock is a 1733 French model he bought at an auction.

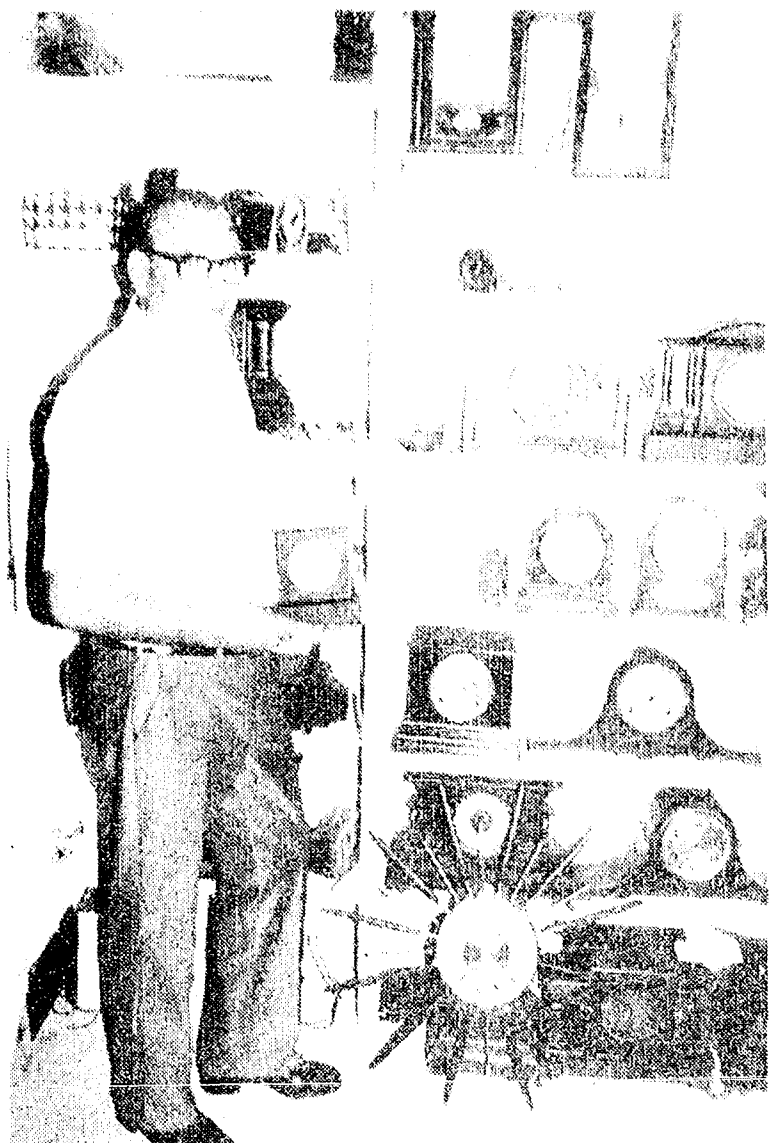

"Forty minutes after I bought it, I was offered five times what I had just paid for it."

He also has a frying-pan clock a student made in shop class and he has two clocks that run backwards.

"One is a bar clock that is supposed to run backwards and the other one I don't know why it does. I haven't had the time to open it up to check it yet."

Harrington moved to Grayling five years ago from Ludington, where he was born and raised. His collection has been featured in other newspaper articles and recently the Cadillac television station did a film feature on his collection. Harrington set off all of his chime and alarm clocks during the interview.

"After the interview, I asked Guy Gordon if he knew what time it was and that cracked him up," Harrington said.

THIS HOBBY TAKES A LOT OF TIME--Collecting more than 300 clocks and repairing others occupies Robert Harrington in his spare time.

The History of The Grayling Co-Op Nursery

A cooperative organization owned and operated by the parents of young children. The environment is one of relaxed, positive acceptance, where each child is recognized as an individual growing and developing at his own rate and in his own way. A qualified teacher directs educational programs set up by the teacher and parents, with parents assisting in carrying out the program.

All members contribute their talents, time, and interests. Members elect officers to handle the administration of the school and each family is represented in an office or in a committee position.

In 1966 the idea for a nursery school was germinating in the minds of two Grayling residents, Nancy Gazan and Marianne Wittenberg, who wished their children could enjoy the benefits of a pre-school experience. One of the mothers had previous experience with a co-operative nursery in a larger city. Combining desire and experience the two mothers began contacting various nursery schools and the Michigan Council of Co-op Nurseries. One year and much hard work later, in the fall of 1966, the Grayling Co-Operative Nursery School was a reality. The first quarters were in the Michelson Memorial Church. There was little equipment and most of it was donated or borrowed. Each successive year the mothers raised funds and budgeted enough to continue to pay a teacher's salary and add more equipment.

Finally in 1974, The Grayling Co-op Nursery, through the continued support of parents and the community, was able to purchase their own building. The modular unit on Plum St., next to the Elementary School, currently houses all the activity, fun, and learning experiences, that make The Grayling Co-Op Nursery a continuing example of the Cooperative Nursery philosophy. It is truly a unique pre-school experience for all three and four year old children.

Only a few days are left to enroll your child in this positive learning and social environment. If your child is 3 or 4 years old, and has not yet been registered call Linda Northrup, Membership Chairman, at 348-5639. We hope your family's enthusiasm and cooperation will be available this fall to insure the Grayling Co-Op Nursery's continued fine high standards and success.

County EDC Seek Forestry - Ag. Projects

If a proposal made by the Crawford County Economic Development Association is approved at a public hearing scheduled for September 8th, the County's Forestry and Agriculture Industries could get a much needed shot in the arm when considering expansion.

At a recent meeting the County EDC voted unanimously to establish Crawford County as a project area for Forestry and Agriculture Projects. The measure is one of the first adopted within the state and allows businesses to borrow money for expansion using industrial revenue bonding as a vehicle. Currently industrial revenue bonds sell for nearly 65% below the prime rate and offer a substantial savings to the investor as they are tax free.

Although EDC funding for industrial projects has been available for some time, it was only last January that Governor Milliken signed into the law the measure that makes the same advantages available to the Agriculture and Forestry Industries.

In addition according to EDC President Chuck Fick of Grayling, smaller amounts are now available to expansion prospects. Previously bonding amounts had to exceed one million dollars to be considered by the County EDC. However, Wayne Workman of Allen Associates, an East Lansing financial consulting firm, says a Gratiot County project has gone as low as $32,000.

If approved at the County Commissioners public hearing, Fick said the move will encourage Forestry businesses to go ahead with planned expansion that may have been discouraged by current high interest rates.

Strolling Around Town

By Fay Bovee

The sidewalk supervisors were out in full force last week, one group on Chestnut Street while the street construction goes on and the other at the Grayling State Bank. What an improvement that sidewalk is going to be to downtown! You get the bouquet this week.

In Clough Sub., I'd like the Bob Harringtons to know that their neighbors appreciate all the beautiful flowers they have all around the house. The back of the Avalanche building has also received a coat of paint making it look much cleaner back there - I can visualize a great deal more in that back alley - it has lots of possibilities. Over on Peninsular the Ralph Hoffman home is sparkling with a new coat of white paint - one of the Olsen boys was wielding a brush (his helper took off for Bogota!) and at Ruth Robertsons a new drive aids her in getting in and out of her car. At Esther Peterson's on Spruce, her house is surrounded with flowers also. Across the street, the fence has had a new coat of paint and some new trees planted - again I think it is the bank that gets the credit. Out at Lake Margrethe, another of the young business men has remodeled a house and planted flowers around it, thank you Dick Joseph!

Doodles From The Tall Timber

Wendell L. Hoover
Park Interpreter

Anyone who plants a garden or rakes the acorns from a lawn is well aware of the often minute package we call a seed. Inside the seed, no matter how small or large, is stored food and a young plant which needs only the proper conditions to send forth a root and leaves. It is a trite term, but seeds are unique in many ways. Some can wait 50 years or more before germinating. They resist drying, freezing, the digestive juices of animals and birds, as well as other kinds of abuse. Nature has provided a means by which seeds can be spread and, since not all will come to rest in a suitable growing spot, many more seeds are produced than will ever be able to grow.

Seeds such as those of milkweed, dandelion, cat-tail, pine and maple are carried by wind, sometimes astonishing distances. Jewelweed and witch hazel actually shoot their seeds some distance from the parent plant. Birds spread others by carrying them in mud stuck to their feet or in the digestive systems. Flowing water in streams and rivers spreads the seeds of various aquatic plants, and even man spreads others. Seeds are carried in pockets, pant cuffs, or in the caked dirt on the underside of a car. Burdock and stick-tights are often spread by catching in the fur of animals or on the trousers of a hunter.

Different seeds need different conditions in which to germinate. For example, cattail seeds like it underwater where the oxygen supply is low. Jack pine seeds need fire to be released from the cones. Trillium seeds must be chilled and then warmed in order to germinate, while locust seeds need to be roughed up before they will grow and peppergrass needs full sunlight.

All in all, seeds are wondrous things, used as the main food source by many species of wildlife, and the food products from seeds in large measure feed man.

Also, my thanks to you.

HELPFUL IDEAS FOR SUCCESSFUL RETIREMENT

SENILITY

Many of us begin to worry about senility about the time of our 65th birthday. We forget an appointment, can't remember where we put the house keys and we feel a tinge of alarm. We believe that senility is just around the corner.

No disease is more feared by America's elderly. It is feared most, perhaps, because we all want to be independent. We want to do for ourselves. We don't want to burden anyone. Most of us believe we can overcome a physical handicap, but we are frightened at the prospects of loss of memory and the ability to make decisions and judgments. So, senility is a very, very bad word.

Actually, senility afflicts only 5 to 10 percent of Americans over 65 years of age. The vast majority of the elderly live actively and alertly. Researchers and scientists are telling us that medical problems are often misread as the beginning signs of senility. In many instances, these misread signs indicate problems that will respond to diagnosis and treatment.

Science and medicine have combined efforts in recent years to provide medicines and treatments that are extending the expected life span. We can anticipate a longer life, better health, but only if we take care of ourselves and maintain the proper mental and physical activity.

Senility does not have to be a part of old age, for it is not part of the aging process.

Attend the Church of Your Choice

Would you like to be able to go to a retreat like this when you are worried — a place where you could be alone with your thoughts — a place where you could untangle your problems?

If you would, then you are like most people. Everyone needs a retreat, at moments. And everyone has one! It isn't a mountain cabin or a seaside cottage — but it is a place far better suited to prayer and contemplation, a place to sort out old errors and make new resolutions. It is your place of worship.

Let it be your sanctuary. Go to it when you are troubled. You will find within its walls your moment of peace and you will walk out into the street again far better able to make the most of your life.

Return of Grayling Fish Unlikely

By Jon Thompson

Many northern Michigan streams are flowing clear, clean, and cold again as they did before the white men came. But the fish which used to inhabit the pristine waters is unlikely to return.

Fishermen from all over used to haul out Grayling fish by the dozens from the AuSable and Manistee before logging and fires destroyed stream quality and helped make the fish extinct in Michigan by the early 1900's.

Now with water quality improving due to tough environmental controls and forest fire control, there's talk of bringing back similar species of the sport fish.

Butch Sapp, an outdoor columnist for the Macomb Daily newspaper, said bringing back the Grayling would give a boost to northern Michigan much like the planting of salmon in the Great Lakes did. He suggested reintroducing the fish to a portion of a river such as the AuSable north branch or the upper Manistee or a small lake such as Bright or Glory Lake near Hartwick Pines.

Although DNR studies show the water quality of these two stretches of river to be suitable for the fish, DNR fishery officials at the Grayling field office say there would be other problems to reintroducing the fish.

"The Grayling wouldn't be able to compete with other fish in the river so all the trout and other fish would have to be poisoned first to get rid of them," a DNR fishery officer said. "And even if you did manage to poison most of the fish, you would still have the problem of keeping other fish from returning to that part of the river."

The DNR officer said there would be the same problem at Bright and Glory lakes because they have an inlet and outlet.

"You'd have to put up a wire barrier or some type of construction to keep other fish out," he said. "But all it would take is for the wire screen to get plugged up once and water would flow over the top letting fish in."

He said there are other lakes without inlets and outlets in the county that might be better suited for planting Grayling than Bright and Glory. Even in a small lake without inlets and outlets, however, poisoning the existing fish population would be a hard task.

"It's awful hard to poison all the fish like you would want to do before you planted Grayling. With the cost of poison these days, it might take as much as $10,000 and a lot of time to do the job right."

Because of the high costs of reintroducing the Grayling, Sapp says the DNR is unlikely to bring back the sport fish without private support such as the DNR accepted for the first salmon planting.

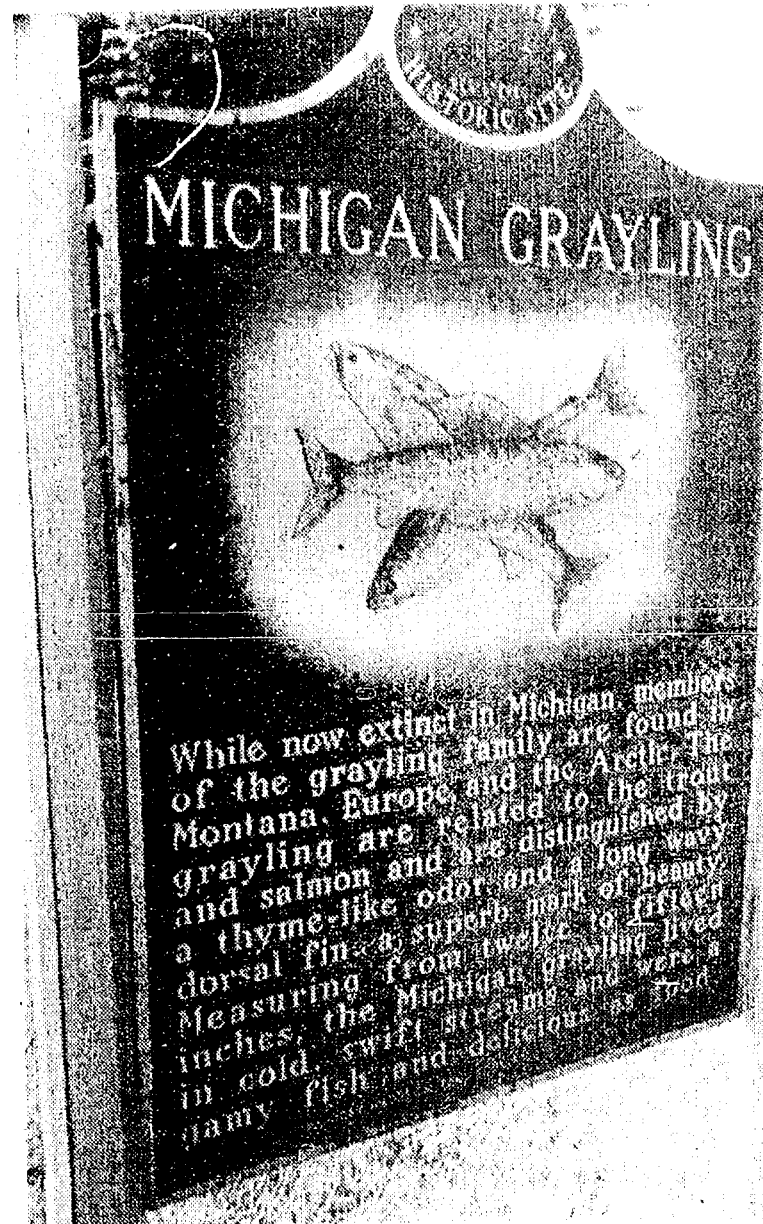

Sapp also says there will probably have to be some kind of control placed on fishing for the easy-to-catch Grayling. According to fishing tales from the turn of the century, catching Grayling was easy as putting a fly on the water.

The fish reportedly didn't fight as hard as trout and was generally smaller - 8 to 18 inches was average in Michigan. But the fish was popular for its high dorsal fin like a sailfish and beautiful pink, purple, and blue specks on its gray body.

Previous attempts to bring back similar species of the Grayling - found in Montana, Alaska, and Europe - have been made in northern Michigan. Around World War II, Ford Lake in the Pigeon River state forest was stocked with Grayling, and in the 1950's Manganese Lake in the U.P. was stocked. Both efforts failed with the fish disappearing within a few years.

COMEBACK NOT LIKELY—This historical sign outside the Crawford County Historical Museum will be the only place Grayling fish can be spotted in this area for a few more years at least. Talk of bringing back similar species of the extinct Michigan Grayling does not appear to be headed for any action.

the sheriff's department. A four-door 1980 Chevrolet owned by Melvindale man caught fire on Wednesday, August 19, at 12:18 a.m. Grayling Township Fire Department responded to the fire call. The cause of the fire has not been determined yet and police are looking for a red corvair noticed in the area around the time the fire started.

Police are also still looking for a pick-up truck with a loud muffler spotted at the scene of a breaking and entering around 10 p.m. last Thursday. The breaking and entering occurred at a residence on US-27 south at the intersection of Oak Road in Beaver Creek Township. Two males were spotted in the pick-up and persons having information about the truck are asked to call the sheriff's department.

Another breaking and entering is under investigation from which $575 worth of property was reported stolen. Robert Morgan, of Livonia, reported a well pump worth $500 missing from his residence at 10902 Cal Murray Drive in South Branch Township. A television antenna worth $75 was also reported stolen.

Par For The Course

By Fay Bovee

There are not many Wednesdays left but the days are beautiful for golfing and Wednesday, August 19, was almost perfect. Corrine Smith came in with a low of 11 putts to help her low gross of 42. Liz Vajda had a good game giving her a net of 32 while Marti Nowak chipped in on No. 4 and Fay Bovee chipped in on No. 5. In Flight B, Nora Fraser had a nice game of 53 while Doris Birtcher netted a 31 and Faith Stripe dropped in 15 putts. In Flight C, Elsie Jansen took low gross again with a 56 and Dorothy Kaseman had low net of 34 and 16 putts. Jean Raab also dropped in only 16 putts.

A short business meeting was held previous to lunch with President Eddie Blaha presiding. Minutes were read by Evelyn Kent and a short discussion on new golf rules was held with the decision being left up to the golf committee for next year. Sandy Brogger and their new daughter, Jennifer, were guests for lunch, and she thanked the group for their welcome gift. Flight C served lunch. Next week will be "brown bag" and the president's day party will be on September 2.

In the last Monday play August 24 before the Fun Night and party, the Monday Night League gave prizes to Bonnie Donnelly for a low of 60 in the 60 and up category. Gloria Nielson dropped in only 15 putts and Phyllis Scheer took low of 17 on holes 3, 4, and 5. The final week is August 31 with a Fun Night and a potluck. Everyone is to bring something to pass. The sign-up sheet is already up and you are urged to get your name on it. We want to see everyone out to join the group that evening. Election of next year's officers will take place at that time. Don't forget, Monday, August 31, Monday night women!
